

Spotting short term trading stocks with low risk entry

Successful trading stocks are depends on best probability set ups, low risk entry and confirmed profit targets. Short term techniques generate numerous trades. Every short term trader chooses to enter and exit the market different ways. New traders must focus on price movement instead of worrying on making money. It is very important to know the proper game and locking your profits. When you swing trading it is important to look price trends and patterns. Different stocks have different characters, like wide and small price ranges. New traders should start with small positions or penny stocks until they get a good track record.

Following trade shows a low risk swing trade from last week.

If you can read the chart above, my daily trend flipped 2 weeks ago and I waited for my trend to develop. I noticed that my daily chart made a lower low and lower high, now I need a low risk entry. I drilled down my chart to a 60 minute and got 2 different low risk entries with tight stops. The trend was in my favor and clipped my profits using my profit targets. The hourly chart matched my expectations with daily chart.

What we recommend is waiting for the right set up, with a flexible trading plan

Remember if you lower your risk and lower your anticipation the more money you can probably make. It is very important to tighten your stops when you are swing trading.

If you are new to trading or not successful in short-term, don't think about making money until you make a well track record. Learn to trade well and money will slowly follow you. When you putting your money, remember every day is a new day.